HOWE'S LONDON SHOWS MADE GOOD IN THIS CITY.

THE EXCELLENT STREET PA-RADE AND GAVE FINE EXHIBI-TIONS BOTH MORNING AND EVENING.

Howe's Great London Shows gave two fine exhibitions in this city Wednesday.

The show was well attended in the afternoon and, notwithstanding the fact that the night was unusually cold for this section, the evening performance was even more largely attended.
The attractive parade of the forenoon had helped to awaken interest and put confidence in the ability of the show to deliver the goods, which it certainly did at both performances.

The performing elephants and other trained animals are exceptionally good. The riding and trapeze performances were above the average,
while the acrobatic and tight wire stunts were simply immense. The little Jap tumblers and contortionists formed a pleasing feature and there were numberless funny acts besides by the big band of clowns. The show was well conducted and orderly. They give exhibitions at St. Augustine today and at Jacksonville Friday and Saturday, which closes their road work for the season. They will make Jacksonville headquarters for the winter.

BROTHER FEARS FOUL PLAY ON DR. FREDERICK COOK.

SAYS THE RECORDS PASSED UP-ON BY COPENHAGEN UNIVERS-ITY WERE NOT THE ONES IN-TENDED.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23—William Cook
this afternoon gave out an interview declaring he believed some harm had come to his brother, Dr. Cook, and added that the records passed upon by the University of Copenhagen were not the records intended to be presented. "My brother is strangely missing and I fear some foul play,"
said Cook.

DR. COOK HAS BEEN DISCOVERED AT LAST.

PASSED THROUGH PARIS THIS MORNING ON HIS WAY TO BEL-GIUM.

PARIS, Dec. 23—Dr. Cook, discredited explorer, passed through Paris today for Ostend, Belgium. According to a generally accepted report, it is said
Cook was accompanied by his wife.
He came from Nice, where he had fled from Marseilles after his identity became known there. A dispatch from Marseilles says Cook registered at a hotel there as "Richardson," but left hastily when his identity was discovered by Americans.

C. W. GRAMLING DIED AT JACKSONVILLE, SATURDAY

A letter from Mrs. C. W. Gramling to Mrs. M. J. Davis, of Kingston, sonveyed the sad intelligence of the death of Mr. Gramling at Jacksonville last Saturday, the interment being made at that place the following day.
Mr. and Mrs. Gramling for some years conducted the Gramling Bakery
in this city and have many warm friends here. They removed from this place to Key West, but have been in Jacksonville for the past year or more.

FRANK B. KELLOGG, NEMESIS OF TRUSTS. SOON TO SPRING A SENSATIONAL SUIT.

Washington is stirred over rumors that at least one sensational trust exposure is being prepared by the government's legal department. Frank B. Kellogg, the Minnesotan who fought the Standard Oil company to a standstill is at the capital and has been working steadily for several weeks preparing an action that the wise ones say will rival the fight against the oil trust. It is known that the sugar trust and the telephone and telegraph merger are under consideration in the attorney general's office, but those who profess to know will not disclose whether Mr.
Kellogg is engaged in these cases or is investigating some other gigantic commercial organization with a view to beginning proceedings. The prominence gained by Mr. Kellogg in his anti-trust fights prompts his friends to put him forward as a candidate for United States senator to succeed Senator Clapp of Minnesota, whose term expires in 1911.

MAYOR CREENE QUOTES

THE DOG ORDINANCE.

Editor Daily News: For the benefit of the public who are not familiar with our ordinance, will you kindly publish the following:

City Ordinance No. 159.

All dogs notoriously troubling, destructive of domestic fowls, eggs or animals, dangerous for living propensities or aggressiveness, shall be kept muzzled by the owner when the same are within the city limits, but non-residents passing through the city with their dogs shall not be subject to license for same.

E. W. GREENE, Mayor.

Whether or not Mayor Greene is attempting in his communication, to justify the arrest of Harry A. Ford.
Tuesday, is hard to determine. If such is His Honors' contention it is weak.

Section 162 of the Revised Ordinances say: "When the marshal SHALL IMPOUND a dog, if the owner
be known, the marshal shall, AF-TER COMPLAINT BY HIM MADE, arrest, or summon the owner to appear in Mayor's Court to answer to a charge of breach of this ordinance."

The two requisites necessary to the arrest were not complied with. Besides Ford was charged with "interfering with an officer in the discharge of his duties."

Chas. Clawson is visiting her brothers
S. G. and A. M. Martin.

Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. Emerick

tled in their winter homes. Mr.
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fiege, from Ill., arrived Friday and have rented a cottage from J. L. Baily.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Weston and two friends arrived Saturday and have rented A. M. Martins' cottage.

The young gentlemen of our village arranged a masquerade party, which came off Friday evening of last week and was a grand success.

Miss Rosie McDonald arrived from Oak Hill Saturday and is with her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henderson.

Millard Patillo has a cousin visiting him this week, from Atlanta.
The ladies of Grace church will give a supper New Year's eve in the

as great an attraction as automobile races. One costs no more than the other.

COMMANDER PEARY WILL SEEK THE SOUTH POLE.

INTENDS TO ORGANIZE EXPEDI-TION AS SOON AS HIS MAGA-ZINE WORK IS COMPLETED.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23—Commander Peary will seek the South pole. This assurance was given the United Press by Peary today. Before starting on the recent expedition north," said Mr.
Peary, "I sent to the International Polar Society a statement that I would be willing to promote a South polar expedition on my return. I am still of the same mind."

Peary intimated that he would organize the expedition as soon as his present magazine work and business affairs were concluded.

PRINCE ALBERT BECOMES

THE KING OF BELGIUM.

BRUSSELS, Dec. 23—Prince Albert became King Albert of Belgium today, succeeding Leopold. The oath of office was administered with elaborate ceremonies.

That thousand dollar check looks awful lonesome lying in the editors' desk. Don't you want good streets?
Then cough up.

ANOTHER TRACT OF LAND IS TO BE EXPLOITED.

ST. PAUL, MINN., PARTIES HAVE PURCHASED 240,000 ACRES OF LAND IN THE KISSIMMEE VAL-LEY.

A large tract of land in the Kissimm-Valley has been purchased by parties of St. Paul, Minn., and will be opened for settlers.

The tract of 240,000 acres covers
nearly all the lands in the Kissimmee
Valley, from Lake Kissimmee to Lake Okeechobee, and is thirty by thirty by thirty-five miles in extent. It covers 375 sections of land each one mile square.

D. D. & C. M. Rogers civil engineers, of this city, have secured the contract for subdividing and platting
this large territory and will put surveying parties in the field the first of next month.

This is another indication of the interest in this State that is awakening among investors and capitalists of the north. There are still thousands of acres of land in Florida which under proper management will prove big money to investors and provide good homes for large numbers of people desiring to escape the rigors of a northern climate.

VIRGINIA MILLIMAN PLEASED AN APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE.

THE LAUGHING COMEDY, "A RACE FOR A MILLION," WILL BE REPEATED TONIGHT.

Last night at the Opera House
the Virginia Milliman Company opened their engagement by producing the very clever comedy "A Race for A Million." The play was indeed enjoyable and it must be said that that this organization is composed of exceedingly capable artists that know how to present plays to the public.

The play deals with a very funny plot and the situations and climaxes are just bubbling over with mirth-provoking laughter. Miss Milliman, as Marjorie Hopper, the daughter of the old millionaire, looked just the sweet girlish part required for the occasion and her acting was one of magnitude that kept the audience's attention from her entrance to her exit, demonstrating her ability as a remarkably clever actress and capable of portraying comedy work as well as emotional which was witnessed here
at her last engagement in the production of Mrs. Dane's Defense.

Every member of this company deserves praise for their work, and the theatre goers of Daytona should reward Manager Herbert by capacity audiences during the balance of their stay, which is tonight, Friday night,
Saturday matinee and Saturday night.
A Race for a Million will be the returne tonight.

THE THOUSAND DOLLARS NOT YET THREATENED.

PEOPLE ARE SLOW IN CALLING
COMMODORE BURGOWNE'S
BLUFF FOR CITY STREETS.

Nary a peep from anyone since Billy Peters coughed up the hundred to keep company with Commodore Burgowne's thousand for city streets. At least, if any peeping chipping or cackling has been done,
the noise has not been loud enough for the Daily News to hear it.

Just bear in mind that $1,000 more must be raised by the time the Daily News goes to press December 27.

If you have been thinking of chipping in a hundred just write out a check and mail it to the Daily News N O W. If the full amount is not raised your check will be returned. If you only feel like putting in a ten spot send it along.

ALDERMAN MILLS EXPLAINS THE DEPLETED TREASURY.

SAYS THE CITY WAS "BUSTED"
WHEN THE PRESENT ADMINIS-TRATION TOOK THE OARS.

Editor Daily News:—In view of remarks and the general attitude of
of citizens and tax payers of our city toward the City Council, as one of that body, I feel as though in defense of said body, matters as they are should be placed before the public in the proper light. At the commencement of the present term of office last February, the incoming Council faced a depleted treasury and an indebtedness nearing $4,000. The much-abused occupation tax had just been defeated, which meant a serious loss to the city. The waterworks were about to be installed,
which is a great expense to the city
at present as the plant is far from being self-sustaining, and the installation of the system has had a great deal to do with putting the streets in the condition in which they now are.

According to the City Charter we have no means of borrowing money
and if we do our duty by the citizens
we have no right to run the city in debt without incriminating ourselves, other than if we give personal notes and receive as a reward
the chagrin of being called a thief
or a fool, which becomes rather monotonous when you are giving your time and labor gratis to a very unappreciative public.

Please be kind enough to investigate before you judge too harshly, as we have a body of men, I believe,
who are doing all they can for the betterment of the city.

Mr. Burgowne's offer is more than generous and if our good citizens will rally to our support now they will do the city an everlasting service.
E. J. MILLS.

INVITATIONS MAILED TODAY FOR ELKS' CHARITY BALL.

TICKETS WILL BE PLACED ON SALE AT HANKINS' AND YOUNG'S PHARMACIES.

Invitations are being mailed today for the Charity Ball to be given by the local lodge of Elks at the Armory,
New Year's Eve. As previously stated, all persons, whether Elks or not,
are requested to hand to the committee names of any persons to whom they desire invitations sent.
The invitation committee, consisting of T. E. Fitzgerald, E. J. Niver and J. D. Maley, have prepared a list of names but no doubt many have been omitted to which invitations should be sent. Don't be backward about asking for invitation—the affair is a charity ball, remember.

Tickets are now on sale at Hankins'
and Young's pharmacies.

One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls flit by in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River. Where think you is water with more picturesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with roomy verandas looking out upon her bosom, gamier food fishes in countless numbers looking, as it were, to those with rod and reel; her bosom flecked with duck and coot and snow-winged sea birds, which sit about as if for the sport of bobbing upon the waves; watch that lubberly old white headed pelican pouch a fat mullet, and that fish hawk struggling upward with his floundering load he snatched from the water.

See the beautiful launches, spick and span, their hampers and lockers bulging with refreshments both solid and liquid ready for a cruise upon the beautiful surface. Take out your field glass and sweep the river from Ormond bridge to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridge-wood.

Ridge-wood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies and the wide spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live oaks extend their giant arms across the magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these extended arms great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from the tropic seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with elfish draperies, but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

See the glistening leaf of the grand magnolia which nature has varnished as no artists' brush ever could; and the cabbage palms with their burdens of showy fruit and swaying palms; see the lovely holly with its exquisite berry; see the climbing vines run riot in the trees; see the cryptogamous forms which gain a foothold on the great oaks and stately palms, and surely you will join in the chorus and say that this is a world wonder for beauty.

Surpassing Beauty of Our Cottage Homes.

No one of Daytona's attractions, perhaps, commands more nearly universal attention and praise than does the artistic cottages. The owners, in the charming villa's built from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans, and build upon them, and as the model towns of a section of the country differ from the architecture of others, so do our little cottage in outward appearance and structural beauty for one another. There are no monotonous rows of strikingly similar buildings but the eye, as it sweeps by, is treated to a kaleidoscopic change which keeps the mind wondering, "What next?"

It is not only the exterior of many of these homes which rivets attention; within they are models of convenience, and the finishing and furnishing give evidence of the elegance and cultivation of those who worked it all out. Indeed, it is the interior arrangement and artistic furnishing and shading, more than the exterior appearance that gives a surpassing charm to Daytona homes. This feature justly merits prominence as another wonder.

Streets and Pavements the Most

and Best.

Why the Architect of the Universe chose to give Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South is not revealed, but that such is a fact must be apparent to the most superficial observer. With such lavish wealth of natural beauty it became an easy thing for the hand of man to give the finishing touches which have wrought out the colors and outlines of the big picture.

Man did all this in the laying out of the streets with their wide margins of parkage. The entire city becomes a great park, with driveways intersecting, miles upon miles of driveways so good as to attract motorists from all over the continent.

And as for the pavements, pavements that look and act like granite, —where else between the eastern and western seas are so many miles in proportion to inhabitants? The pavement question stands with the street as one of the chief drawing cards. Till some unheard of place reports more and better, Daytona throws down the gauntlet to the world.

Squirrels, Flowers, Birds and Fruit. Whatever one's shortcomings and however indifferent or even callous one may be to many things, the mere mention of "flowers and Squirrels, birds and fruits" will send a thrill that is reflected in distended pupils and pricked ears.

For every visitor with a spare goober there is a bunny ready to come and accept your gift. He will sit bolt upright and know into the meat, casting furtive, saucy glances at you meanwhile.

Flowers. Usually fresh and blooming the year 'round You are reminded of Goldsmith's couplet where Smiling spring its earliest visit paid And summer's lingering blossoms are delayed.

In one yard roses of variegated hues predominate; another household has a penchant for the polioetta and the premises are aflame; another is hidden in a jungle of tall cane. Variety is the spice of life and here is where you find it.

The birds flit in, and with their joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.

As for fruits, choice citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity per acre. There are scores of citrus groves in proximity to the city, branches bending to the earth with their burdens of luscious golden globes, which for beauty, prolificacy and all desirable qualities would truly astonish you. The Fastest Autos and The Finest Out.

The seventh world wonder, do you ask? Come, whether from Missouri or from Maine, from Kalamazoo or Timbucktoo, and you will be "shown." Here is where the world's record for speed is broken with every recurring season. Autos, the biggest, the fastest, and the finest are on daily parade and the big show is as free as the pure artesian water from the thousands of flowing wells. It is a continuous show with constantly shifting scene.

Everything goes, from a 2-horse power, up to a 200-horse power, and all degrees of speed from acanter to a two-mile-a-minute clip. You will probably catch the spirit, when you see the roads and the beach are yours. The Florida sunshine is free, the sea breeze is free, the sand is free, the sun and sea and flowers are free, the swimming pool in water is free, and you will have to pay down a few cents for the rest of the show.

It is showing other thousands of holdings there entrusted, it will hold and hold you. Come and see.

SEABREEZE and DAYTONA
BEACH, two enterprising and progressive towns on the Halifax Peninsula, are geographically one although incorporated as separate municipalities. The towns parallel the peninsula north and south for a distance of from three and one-half to four miles, and extend east and west from the surging seas of the Atlantic Ocean to the Halifax River, the beautiful tide-water stream that sets them apart from Daytona with which they have close communion by means of three bridges, as well as a half-hour ferry service.

Seabreeze and Daytona Beach are essentially summer and winter resorts and are making hundreds of new friends every year among those who desire to escape the discomforting extremes of heat and cold, and their hotels and boarding houses are now receiving splendid patronage from the most discriminating class of tourists.

The mean average temperature, 80 degrees in the summer and 70 degrees in the winter, with an occasional extra rise or drop of a few days' duration, marks this as one of the most healthful locations in any section of the country, north, east, south or west.

The ocean itself, with its marvelous beach, hard as macadam and smooth as a floor, is the greatest attraction, although earth and air and sky seem to have entered into a combination to enhance its every charm. The beach is the famous automobile race course where every world's straight-away record has been made, and all these records it continues to hold without rivalry.

The sand of this famous speedway is composed largely of the shells of the coquina clam, which are about one-half inch long and very thin. For ages Nature has been rolling them up, washing them back into the surf and pulverizing them. Examined under the microscope each particle is round, unfit for mortar, builders say, because its smoothness prevents its holding together, yet, strange to contemplate, the very moment a wave leaves the wet, apparently soft beach, these round particles settle down into a cement almost as hard as asphalt, beyond the comprehension of one who has not seen it. Repairs are unnecessary, as twice each 24 hours it is entirely rebuilt by the tides. The beach has a width of 300 to 500 feet, and can be used from two hours after until two hours before high tide, thus giving an average of seven or eight hours for automobiling some part of each day.

Seabreeze and Daytona Beach each have a permanent population of approximately 1500. Sanitary ordinances are strictly enforced, streets and sidewalks are well kept, and new streets are being opened as fast as the increasing population demands. Besides hotels and boarding houses there is ample cottage accommodation for all winter visitors.

Seabreeze contains a handsome opera house and a Congregational Church; at Daytona Beach is a M. E. Church. An excellent high school is situated near the division line between the two towns. Both towns have enterprising business establishments, as is evidenced by the advertisements on the left and right.

All the attractiveness of Seabreeze applies to Daytona Beach, the two towns being so similarly situated. The development of Daytona Beach has been fully as phenomenal as its sister on the north, and each year there is a substantial growth. The great sand dunes have been leveled and handsome homes have been built for both winter and all-year-round occupancy. Flowering shrubs have been planted, which are covered with a wealth of blossoms both summer and winter.

Work of rebuilding the Clarendon hotel is now in progress. This magnificent fire-proof structure, which is to contain 250 rooms, when completed will be the peer of any hotel in Florida. The site is immediately north of the clubhouse of the Florida East Coast Automobile Association. The Ocean Pier is a great attraction to fishermen and it is lined summer and winter with enthusiastic disciples of Izaak Walton, who find it nothing unusual to land fish weighing several hundred pounds.

NEW SMYRNA is situated fifteen miles south of Daytona and is an ideal spot reached from Daytona by a hard surface road winding through one of the most picturesque parts of Florida.

With its ancient ruins dating back to a time when the history of man runneth not, interlaced with wires of the modern telegraph and telephone, its miles of shell streets as hard and smooth as a floor and over-arched by hoary forest giants that grew in state-ly grandeur during the lapse of by-gone centuries, New Smyrna is truly a place of romance and rest.

All nature here is very inviting to the tourist and pleasure-seeker. Here too is to be found the best fishing and hunting in the State of Florida.

The people are thrifty, the business men enterprising, and all unite in extending the welcome hand of hospitality to strangers. There are five church edifices for white people and an equal number for the colored population; the town has an excellent high school, a splendid public library, and up-to-date business houses.

There are any number of pretty homes for the permanent population, which numbers close to 2,000, and some very fine winter residences. There are good hotels and boarding houses where you can find accommodations to meet your requirements.

Adjoining New Smyrna is as fine a section of vegetable land as can be found anywhere. This land has been divided into small farms which can be bought at reasonable prices. Some of the finest celery grown in the State is raised on this land. All other vegetables grow in abundance, and here, too, is the home of the famous Indian River oranges.

New Smyrna has no bonded indebtedness and the tax levy is low.

A point that no tourist should fail to visit is the ruins of the Old Spanish Mission which stand somber and alone about one and a quarter miles southwest of New Smyrna. A good road leads to the place and the trip can be easily made by an automobile. Silent, in the great pine flats by the margin of the forest, is this place of pilgrimage for the pious; this rendezvous for the picnicker. The ruins are extensive, and while there is no authentic history of their origin, it is presumed that the Mission was built by the Franciscans in the days when the once powerful Kingdom of Spain first planted its flag upon what is now American soil. It was built of coquina, the roof being of the same material, cut into thin slabs and covered with cement plaster. Extensive gardens surrounded it, which were enclosed by a stone wall, portions of which still remain. Visitors usually come in parties merry and curious but the spell of the place soon falls upon them and they separate to sit alone, silent and meditative, under the arches or beside the ancient well.

CORONADO
Is situated on the peninsula opposite New Smyrna and is connected by a good road and bridge over the deep current of Indian River. Here you can put aside your conventional garb, breathe in large and deep the salty tonic of the sea and enjoy yourself to your heart's content with rod and reel in row or sail boat or in the ocean surf a short half-mile away. The great varieties of fish inhabiting the river and lagoon pass through the channel from the sea beneath the bridge. From verandas, upper balconies and windows you behold the magnificent river, the distant lagoons and islands, the forest-covered peninsula and the vast reaches of the Atlantic Ocean.

HAWKS PARK
A pretty village located along the ridge above the Indian River two and one-half miles south of New Smyrna and connected with fine shell roads. There is the appearance of newness, comfort and seclusion about the place which stamps it as the abode of people who come here to enjoy the blessings of outdoor life away from places where crowds are apt to gather.

ORMOND is five miles north of Daytona, located on the western bank of the Halifax River. The location of the town permits of good drainage and perfect sanitation; the elevation is superb and ideal for winter homes. A wide bridge connects Ormond with Ormond Beach. Many fine residences are maintained on either side of the river, most of them embellished with sub-tropical flora and shrubbery, besides thrifty orange and other citrus fruit trees.

The town is very cosmopolitan, has an excellent graded school, several churches, a fine public library, up-to-date places of business and comfortable and convenient hotels and boarding houses.

Ormond has many of the Florida attractions—fine fruit, good fishing, excellent automobilism, safe boating, salubrious climate and pleasant walks and drives.

At Ormond Beach is located the large Hotel Ormond, and its lesser sister, Bretton Inn. The former occupies a position overlooking the Halifax River, while the latter has as its outlook the magnificent beach and the broad Atlantic.

The walks in all directions are particularly attractive, and the arches, shady and inviting spots and romantic nooks are crowded with rustic seats which are made invitations to enter into the enjoyment thereof.

Besides the broad, smooth ocean beach there are many drives for carriage or automobile—long drives and short drives; drives through groves of golden oranges; drives through dense tropical forests to Spanish ruins; drives to the ancient Causeway built by the slaves of planters of long ago, and drives to the plantations of hospitable settlers, whose places are replete with the interest of Southern fruits and flowers.

One of these interesting plantations is Number Nine, located on the peninsula, five miles north of the Hotel Ormond. Here you see a fine orange grove, together with great varieties of other sub-tropical fruits and flowers.

Five miles further on you come to Moondgrove, one of the finest orange groves in this section of Florida. Moondgrove is on the headwaters of the Halifax River and is amid pretty surroundings. The place is reached by a good road [passing Number Nine] and is a drive all tourists may enjoy.

PICTURESQUE PORT ORANGE

PORT ORANGE is a pretty little village situated five miles south of Daytona on the Daytona-New Smyrna hard-surface road, the scenic highway of the East Coast. The town is located on the Halifax River, over which spans a bridge from the town to the peninsula opposite.

The town is well laid out and has many pretty homes owned and occupied by residents and winter tourists. It has several churches, one of the best graded schools in Volusia county, two general stores, a real estate agency and two or three hotels.

A large number of tourists and winter residents make Port Orange winter headquarters, one of the several attractions being the excellent fishing. Port Orange is in the orange belt and a number of very fine citrus groves are nearby, where oranges, tangerines and grape-fruit hang in profusion. Some of the best trucking land in the State is to be found thereabout and excellent crops are raised.

West of Port Orange a short distance are the remains of the old Dunlawton sugar mill, a spot that is visited every year by hundreds of tourists. At one time all the country west of Port Orange, surrounding the old mill, was a vast sugar-cane and indigo plantation. The mill was operated extensively in those days but has been in disuse for thirty or forty years.

A pretty automobile or carriage drive from Daytona is via the ocean beach to the approach of the Port Orange bridge, across the bridge and then passing through Port Orange to the ruins of the celebrated old sugar mill, returning to Daytona by the road on the mainland. This drive affords a very pleasing variety of scenery.

place several hundred people make winter headquarters. A large lumber mill and the largest brick plant in the South are located at Lake Helen.

ORANGE CITY
The principal attraction around Orange City is the many handsome golden orange groves. The town is supplied with water said to be the purest in the world, another attraction to visitors. It is at Orange City that passengers over the Florida East Coast R.R. transfer to carriages and drive to Deland. The town is surrounded by land peculiarly adapted to the cultivation of citrus fruits.

DELAND, the county seat of Volusia County,
is situated 23 miles southwest of

At Deland is located the John B.
Stetson University, one of the leading educational institutions of the South. Because of the interest in matters educational Deland is known as "The Athens of Florida."
Stetson University has a faculty of 50 professors and instructors. There are over $400,000 in buildings and equipment; nearly $300,000 endowment; a Carnegie Library alone representing an investment in building, endowment and books, of more than $120,000. The library is the United States Government depository for the State of Florida, and contains over 15,000 volumes. Science Hall, one of the newest of 16 buildings, with its furnishings, represents an outlay of $60,000. Elizabeth Hall is one of the most beautiful college buildings in the South.
The city has a population of about 3,500, with a thickly settled country adjacent. Deland proper is five miles east of the St. Johns River, on the high, rolling pine land of the great "Orange Ridge" of Florida.
The predominating products are oranges and grapefruit, the estimated crop from this vicinity being over 300,000 boxes this year. Grapes, peaches, pears, Japan persimmons,
plums, pecans, guavas, strawberries
and other fruits are grown in plenty.
In the way of public improvements are many miles of fine shell roads, an excellent high school, electric lights,
a system of waterworks that is owned and operated by the city, supplying the purest water at little cost.
Nine houses of worship testify that Deland is a church-going community. Baptists, Episcopalians, Methodists (Northern and Southern), Presbyterians, Christians and Catholics,
besides colored Baptists and Methodists, are represented.
The graded school offers a ten years' course, and the building which it occupies is newly furnished throughout, and is one of the most commodious and best equipped public schools in the State.
The trip from Daytona to Deland is made by automobile in a little over an hour, and there are many pretty drives in the vicinity of the county site. A good road leads to DeLeon Springs, five miles, a historic spot, where 60,000 gallons of water
bubble from the earth every minute.
From Deland automobiles go south to Osteen, 18 miles, on shell and marl roads; the St. Johns is crossed by ferry near Osteen and cars can then continue to Sanford and Orlando by hard road. There is a shell road from Deland to Orange City, five miles, and a good road from Deland
to Lake Helen, a like distance.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

THE WAY OF THE WORLD.

This is a true story and a sad story and typical of the way of the world. Mrs. William Dietz of Bellevue, Ky., "got tired of living with her husband" and ran away with William Keefer of Newport, Ky., who also had a family. In Chicago, after a few weeks, Keefer deserted Mrs. Dietz, whom he had ruined, and straggled back to the bosom of his family, where he was welcomed with open arms.

Which is the way of the world. The woman in the case, repudiated by her husband and deserted by the man for whom she had given up all, struggled alone for awhile against great odds. Being unable to find employment and in despair, she shot herself.

Which is also the way of the world. While in the hospital and torn with the pain of her wound, friendless, her sufferings were made more poignant by the following statements given to the newspapers:

Henry Dietz—I am done with my wife. She took herself out of my life when she eloped with Keefer. I want nothing more to do with her. I called at the hospital merely to see if she was dead.

The way of the world. William Keefer—I became tired of that false life and yearned to return to my own family. I could stand it no longer.

The way of the world. Mrs. William Keefer—I know my husband would not have eloped had it not been for Mrs. Dietz. She was the one to blame. I am joyed that my husband is back. I know he will never leave again.

The way of the world. Let the woman suffer! "She was the one to blame." Forgive the man. When he becomes tired of the false life and yearns to return to his family forgive him, coddle him, believe his protestations, trust his promises for the future. But the woman?

It is the way of the world to—Turn the cold shoulder to her because she has "ruined herself." The man who lured her—he has not ruined himself. Oh, no; it was only an indiscretion on his part! But one mistake is sufficient for her.

It is the way of the world. There is no forgiveness for the woman even though her repentance is by the way of agony and bitter tears. She has committed the unpardonable sin. Put her outside the pale. Let the man go. But make the woman wear the scarlet letter. She has "ruined herself."

It is the way of the world.

Made Certain of It.

A through train on the Rock Island stopped a few moments at the Englewood station one day. A passenger got off to walk around a little. As the train began to move again the passenger jumped aboard, but just then he discovered that he had but one overshoe. Thinking that he dropped the other somewhere on the platform and as the train was going too fast for him to jump off and recover it, he pulled off the remaining shoe and threw it on the platform, exclaiming, "There—that makes a good pair of overshoes for somebody." Entering the car, he proceeded to his seat. There, to his great astonishment, was his overshoe. A look of intense disgust came upon his face, but he did not hesitate. Quickly picking up the lone arctic, he hurried to the platform, threw the shoe as far as he could back toward the other one and shouted, "By jinginy, there is a pair of overshoes for somebody!"—Argonaut.

Dr. Thomas Jonnesco.
Famous European Surgeon, Here to Teach Our Doctors.

The visit to this country of Dr. Thomas Jonnesco, one of Europe's most famous surgeons, has had for its purpose the demonstration of his method of using stovaine, a newly discovered anaesthetic, by means of which Dr. Jonnesco has performed grave operations on patients without reducing them to unconsciousness. Dr. Jonnesco's home is in Bucharest. He is connected with the medical school of the university in the capital of Roumania.

He—If Herr Schulerowsky marries the rich banker's daughter there'll be two happy people.

She—Indeed? Do you think they'll be so happy together?

He—I don't know about them, but his shoemaker and tailor will get their pay at last.—Bertha Journal.

Their Own Victims.
"Why is it," said the discouraged housewife, "that all our cooks become discontented and irritable?"
"That's easily explained," answered old Mr. Groucher. "They have to eat their own dinners and get dyspepsia."

On one occasion so many locusts perished off the coast of Africa that a bank four or five feet high and fifty miles long was formed on the shore by their dead bodies, and the stench of them reached inland for 150 miles. In another part of Africa early in the Christian era a plague of locusts is said to have caused the death of 800,000 persons, and in 531 nearly as bad a plague occurred in Italy, New York American.

His Home-coming

How He Found His Grandmother and What He Did For Her.

By FRANK H. SWEET.

Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.

It was the hour of noon. A tall, sal-low faced man sat on the barnyard wall, gazing over his rocky fields with slow, speculative eyes. He had finished his dinner and was now waiting for the help.

Every few minutes he glanced impatiently toward the door of the long back kitchen.

At last he muttered something under his breath and slid heavily from the wall. At the same moment he saw a boy approaching.

"Does Mrs. Carter live here?" the boy asked briskly as he paused in front of the man.

"She's stayin' here just now," was the answer. "I guess you'll find her in the house."

The boy walked on past the barnyard and up the clam shelled lined path to the front door of the old farmhouse.

"Is Mrs. Carter in?" he asked of the little old woman who opened the door.

"Round in the kitchen, eatin' her dinner," was the mumbling answer.

"Men folks eat fast here. Who be ye?" But the boy had already left the step and was on his way round to the kitchen.

The door was partly open, and he could see a long table, around which were seated a dozen or more old women and children. He knocked gently and repeated his question.

A sweet faced old woman rose and came to the door.

"I am Mrs. Carter," she said pleasantly. "What do you wish?"

But the boy could not answer.

He felt all those curious eyes upon him, and there was a lump in his throat and a terror of something he could not understand.

"I—I wish to see you," he stammered at length.

"Very well. Suppose we go into the sitting room. We can talk better there."

He followed her through the long kitchen into a big square room that was scantily furnished. The old woman motioned him to a chair by the window where the light rested full upon his face.

"Now," she began, then stopped, and a strange look came into her eyes.

"Who are you?" she asked in a troubled voice. "I am getting old and do not remember as I used to. But I have seen you somewhere."

He rose from the chair.

"No, you have never seen me before," he replied, "but folks used to say that I looked like father. I am John Carter. Why don't you welcome me, grandmother?"

She trembled and gazed at him eagerly.

"John's boy—come home!" she said vaguely. Then a flush came into her faded cheeks and a glad light into her eyes.

"And has—has John come?" she asked.

"My father died last fall." The boy's voice was very calm, but in it was a depth of pain which he strove vainly to conceal. "His last wish was for me to come home. He said there had been some misunderstanding between him and Uncle Richard, but that his death would make it all right and that I would be welcome. Is Uncle Richard here?"

"Richard died many years ago. He told me the whole story and wanted John's forgiveness. Poor Richard! Poor John!"

In the dim old eyes was a freshening of the old pain, and the boy saw it, and his own face grew wistful and sympathetic.

"Dear grandmother!" he said softly. The old woman smiled and tried to rouse herself.

"You and I are all there is left," she said. "We will not speak of the quarrel any more. They have made it up before this."

Then she took his strong young hand between her two white-knotted ones and stroked it tenderly.

"How did you find me, Jacky?" she asked, using the pet name she had given him many years before.

"A man on the road told me that you lived in the big house by the pond. It was easy to find."

"And did you come all the way from Mexico alone?"

"Yes; I am used to traveling. I did not find it much, except for its being lonely. I missed father. We—we were almost always together."

The brave eyes held back their tears, but she could feel his hand tremble in her grasp.

A cheap clock on the shelf began to strike shrilly, but after two or three spasmodic efforts it began to quaver and finally stopped altogether.

The old woman smiled.

"It is old and decrepit, just like everything else about the place," she remarked sadly.

John looked at her inquiringly.

"What does it all mean?" he asked. "Things do not seem as—as I expected. Father told me about Maplewood and the long avenue and fine old trees. I looked for them when I was coming up the lane and thought maybe they had been cut down. I fancied I should know the place, but it all seems so strange." Then something in her face made him ask suddenly, "Is it Maplewood?"

"Maplewood—this? Oh, John, John, don't you know—haven't you heard?" All the color was gone from her cheeks now, and her face was white and piteous. "Did you come all the way from Mexico to find such a welcome as this? How thankful I am that your father did not know!"

"But what is it, grandmother? You must tell me everything. You and I are all there is left, and you must let me help you. What is it about Maplewood?"

"It was sold long ago. Your Uncle Richard owed money and let the dear old place go. It took everything. Poor Richard!"

The boy's own face had grown colorless now; a terrible suspicion was in his mind.

"What place is this?" he asked fearfully.

"The poorhouse. Oh, Jacky, Jacky!" But with that heartbroken cry in his ears the boy forgot everything else—all his hopes and expectations and longings.

"Never mind, grandmother," he said lovingly. "You have me, and I am almost a man. I will soon make another home for you."

"Poor Jacky boy! You are young yet and do not know how hard the world is. And it is more for you than myself I care."

"I am seventeen," he answered sturdily as he drew his strong young figure to its full height. "I went with father to his work in the mountains every day, and he said I was the strongest boy of my age he ever saw. I shall soon make a nice home for you."

"Never mind its being nice, Jacky. A hovel or woodshed—anything to get away from here. And it will not cost so much to live. You have no idea how little we can get along with—we two."

Her eyes were shining now, and the color was coming back into her cheeks. "I—I was afraid that I should have to live here always."

When the rest of the women began to file in from the kitchen the two were standing by the window, talking earnestly.

John picked up his hat.

"I'll come and see you as often as I can, grandmother," he said as he moved toward the door, "and it will not be long before I have a home for you."

As he went down the lane he could not help contrasting his prospects with those of the boy who had passed there a short half hour before.

He thought of the long talks that he and his father had had about his future—the studies and college life and the work to be done afterward.

Neither of them had ever dreamed of the possibility of his relatives being unable to provide for him. And here he was penniless and his supposed wealthy grandmother in the poorhouse.

He almost felt glad that his father was dead and could not know.

At the head of the lane he paused and glanced back at the rambling farmhouse and its outbuildings.

"Poor grandmother!" he said aloud. "I must not keep her waiting very long."

Although it was still March, the sun was hot and the snow nearly gone. Here and there in the fields he could see farmers beginning their spring work—picking up stones and mending the walls and fences.

After awhile he went across to one of the groups and asked for work. But he was too late. The farmer had already hired all the help he wanted.

A little farther on he tried again. At last he found a man who said he was just the sort of boy he had been looking for.

One day in the latter part of April a farm wagon drove up to the poorhouse, and a boy sprang lightly to the ground.

Sitting on the stone wall was the same man he had met before. Stretched across the barnyard were several of the dilatory hands.

"I've come for Mrs. Carter," said the boy respectfully.

The man took a straw from his mouth.

"Well, I don't mind," he answered gruffly. "D'ye think you can support her?"

"Yes."

"Where ye goin'?"

"I'm working on the Taylor farm, and we're going to have the little house in the lower pasture."

"That," contemptuously, "Why, nobody's lived in it for years. I don't fit to live in it."

"I've fixed up a couple of rooms, and they'll do very well," replied the boy quietly. "And Mr. Taylor says I shall have it repaired in a week or so."

He didn't want to quarrel with the man until he lost it fixed.

"Shouldn't think he would. What does he pay you?"

"Three dollars a week and lets me have a big garden where I raise all the vegetables I want."

"It's not well, that's pretty fair wages for a boy. If ye're chest I guess ye can rub along. An' I calculate the old lady will be mighty glad to git away."

He watched the boy as he went across the yard and into the house. Then he hurried his tardy workmen into the field.

When the old farm was a rattled down the lane he was mending a gap in his line wall, but he found time to straighten up and gaze at them as they rode away.

The boy was clad in rough jacket and blue overalls that showed many stains of the brown earth he was becoming familiar with. The old lady had a fine shawl of some ancient pattern around her shoulders.

The man gazed after the wagon until it had disappeared from sight.

"It beats all nater how some folks is contented," he soliloquized as he turned away. "Them two's as pleased as though they was in a carriage instead of Taylor's old rattle-de-bang wagon!"
